

The London Energy Roundtable

Tuesday, November 28th, Canada House, Trafalgar Square, London

- MC Caroline Saunders, British Consul General, Calgary
- 8:45 am Opening remarks by H.E. Janice Charette, Canadian High Commissioner
- 9:00 am Claire Perry, MP, Minister for Climate Change and Industry
- 9:30 am Session 1: Power & clean tech
Massive investment is taking place in power and clean technology. For those active in the global decarbonisation trend, the environmental, social and economic potential is enormous. The panel will review the power and clean tech landscape in the UK and Canada and the explore the potential to strengthen collaboration on the development and financing of new technologies and infrastructure.
- David Watson, Partner & Chief Executive Officer, Temporis Capital
 - Matt Willey, Director of External Affairs, Drax Group
 - Andrew Noseworthy, Federal Co-Chair, First Ministers' Meeting Working Group in Clean Technology, Innovation and Jobs, Canada
 - Jacob Irving, President, Canadian Hydro Power Association
- Session chair: Neil Hirst, Senior Policy Fellow for Energy and Mitigation, Grantham Institute, Imperial College London
- 10:20 am Duncan Hawthorne, Chief Executive, Horizon Nuclear Power
- 10:45 am Networking break
- 11:10 am Session II: Oil & Gas
Panelists will review developments in the UK and Canadian oil and gas markets, including for conventional and unconventional development. The decisions that are being made to diversify energy supply will be examined, as will the role that oil and gas will play going forward in-light of volatility around price, technological advances and government approvals for projects. Strengthening regulatory collaboration, expanding investment and technological collaboration and linking supply chain opportunities between the British and Canadian energy sectors will be explored.
- Jim Ellis, President & CEO, Alberta Energy Regulator
 - Colette Cohen, Chief Executive Officer, The Oil and Gas Technology Center
 - Alan Black, UK & Canada Engineering Director, Subsea7
- Session chair: Mungo Hardwicke-Brown, Partner, Blake, Cassels & Graydon LLP
- 12:00 pm Networking luncheon
- 1:00 pm Closing remarks by Jason Langrish, President, The Energy Roundtable

About The Energy Roundtable

Founded in 2004, The Energy Roundtable is an industry-led initiative to help define the Canadian energy sector's role in domestic affairs and in global energy markets. Our annual conference series in Calgary, Toronto and London gather leaders from the energy sector to review industry developments, facilitate networking and explore business opportunities. The Energy Roundtable includes the participation of investors, producers, service providers, government officials and thought leaders from around the world.